

ice skating rink + high-tech skates w/ velcro closures.

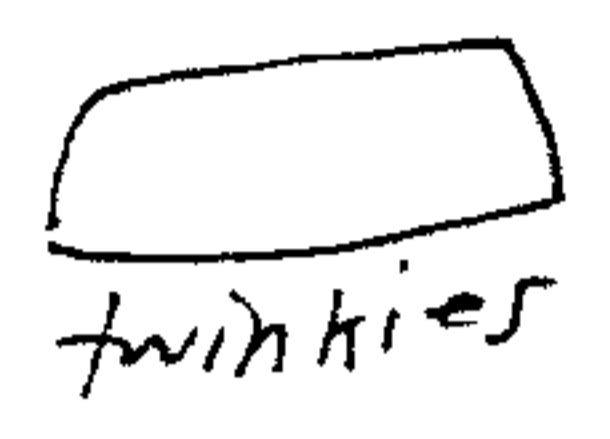

magic happening

bowl of fresh whipped cream

Newsletter - ~~December~~ November Edition
by Lisa K. Smolkin

twinkies

oreos

Decorating and Moving Tips:

- open^{all} windows of new place
- sweep or vacuum and mop floor with orange oil soap
- light beeswax candles
- feel happy, feel perfect and hopeful even though you live in a very old house and things are unfixable

Recipe: Macaroni & Cheese

Ingr. 1 pkg. pasta (non-wheat)
1 tin tomato sauce
shredded goat cheese - 1 cup
4 pieces non-wheat bread

Boil pasta. preheat oven to 325°. Mix cooked pasta with grated cheese & tomato paste.
Bake for 35 min. check to see if well-heated. Eat it all.

scary things that can happen with mirrors:

- You look in and you see someone else instead of yourself
- You look in and you see someone else behind you that you that you didn't know was there
- You look in and see a tunnel into another world
- Over the years you look at your face so much you look like a woodland creature wants: To take an 80's style aerobics class (low impact) with really good music.

Is Pluto plutonic?

Special: Happy Birthday next month to Krista!
congratulations to Kevin on account of going to L.A. to show his film.

Best Valentine's Day Ever - Non-Fiction:

plutonic - year 1993?
Hung out with my friend Dylan. We slow-danced to Elvis. I slept on his couch. In the morning I went into his room and we listened to a little bit of Romeo and Juliet on the radio. True I hate Shakespeare but not that day (or the old R & J movie.) Then he made me a toasted bagel with strawberry cream cheese and fresh strawberries. Perfect.

choose your own answer:

Question: How do you really know if someone loves you?
Answer 1: You can't because you can never truly know what's in someone else's heart Answer 2: You just know. You can feel it.

Music: Get from library - CDs of whaler making haunted sounds. Beautiful.

Do you remember when people used to do their e's like this ?

Send letters or questions to: lisasmolkin@gmail.com or Lisa Smolkin

100 pain ave. 56 maples toronto on m4k 1e8

Concern: Looking like / Being 30 something new-age mom wearing "funky" hats and brooches.

9/10 people like fish n chips (n. americans)

Fiction: once upon a time I was a beautiful ballerina so painfully thin, so exquisite. Everyone loved me - when I cried people were so sad. When I danced it made everyone cry. My skin was so white it almost looked blue. I hardly ever smiled & my clothing was hopelessly outdated. It was so grey in Russia and cold - everything was serious. One night we got a bootlegged copy of the movie White Nights. We were amazed. It was as if we were looking in the mirror.

I only ever loved one man. He was Russia's most famous contemporary artist. For some reason he did not love me back. I had white, pink, black, and peach coloured pointe shoes. I kept them in a wooden box at the end of my bed.

A French Parfumer created a perfume for me. Each bottle contains 100 proof vodka, 500 rare & special jasmine flower blooms, some diamond dust, and love-lies-bleeding essence. An American fan sent me a Fendi bag in the mail. Life so wonderful, so cruel.