

With a hope not to offend - I became an ordained minister over the internet yesterday. For the Universal Life Church

Career: Hope to be a marriage commissioner in Ontario and an energy healer. Non-denominational. I realized that instead of getting married I actually want to be the one to officiate the marriages of others. I did a piece of art of people getting married and I recognized myself as the officiant not the bride. It seems more fun for me. I will bless the people non-

Coupon: 1 smile for
Watch for: Women with bleached blonde hair wearing white, light pink, light yellow, lavender or turquoise.

Newsletter for August/September 2008 by Lisa K. Smolkin

True story: A saint gave me a piece of chocolate and a pink rose petal.

denominationally with pink & platinum light. This may as well already have happened.

I'm not as nice of a person that some of you may think. I don't like cats that much. But more than I used to.

Secret reason: I Ad: Crocus Sleeping Pills.

Dreams: To one day live in Boston or somewhere else. To travel. To own a robot vacuum cleaner. To have a ride in a smart car on my birthday.

To you dear reader: there is a lot I haven't told you.

Feel like an alien? Try the flower remedy Shooting Star

Food: My X sister-in-law sort of, at her baby shower there was a friend of her mother's that made an amazing dish characteristic of the 1960s where everything was so opulent, rich, smothered & covered. It was a full loaf of bread made into salmon sandwiches & then the entire form of sandwiches was covered (all sides) in cream cheese like icing. It was so gorgeous although I didn't eat any. In an alternate universe or this one this might be one of my favourite foods. It probably is anyways.

List #1: leather, wool, silk, fur, tallow, cream, butter, eggs, honey. The plenty of animals.

List #2: sunshine, hopes, books

Non-fiction: ^{drives} Have any of you been to Maryland. I have. I saw my sister marry a person named David Sherman there. He is an awesome rocker with a heart of gold. Her and Sherman looked so happy and I am so happy for them.

Movie: Raw Food Made Easy. Watched with my 6 year old son. We both seem to love cooking shows. Very educational. In one day I made 3 recipes. Quick & easy. Also: Wall-E-moody and awesome.

Do the words frozen chocolate dipped mini bananas mean anything to you? Well they mean something to me because I got a box from Whole Foods. I love to go health food shopping in the U.S.

Bliss (1997) good.

Another food related item (sue me): For the wedding dinner we went to a wicked restaurant called Dutch's Daughter where I had the best CRAB CAKES imaginable. Lump crab & TWICE BAKED POTATOES. These were the food highlights. We stayed in the lap of luxury & swam in a pool. Drove to Washington, D.C. and across the Virginia state line. We got to use a GPS which talked to us & told us where to go. It was very smart: it only it could learn to say "I love you." Sherman took my mom for a motorcycle ride. I was so impressed with her bravery. Mom rocks! And I went shopping at Target (good styles).

Props: To Shary and Sonja for a hysterical night of karaoke. I love you guys

Likes: scented pencil crayons = the good life of a child

Affirmation: I forgive the citizens of planet earth for not always making a fuss over me

Things I could be good at: Perpetual Grayhound passenger.