

Job: Registrar General of Canada. If I had this job I would sit at my desk sign things & shake my head 'yes' to things.	Wanting to party like a teenager or an adult in a dark pub with wooden padded booths, friendliness, comfort, exciting newness, romance, hope, engagement, ideas, food, bevier, friends, community (the real kind), inclusion, the eternal flame.	Favourite Foods: 1. Still Maple Syrup & Snow 2. Chocolate Chips 3. Mexican Food 3. Whole foods -vege. diet 4. Papaya & pomellos
Other jobs: professional dancer : midwife : woman studies student & life : body care sales (natural)	December 2008 / January 2009 Newsletter by Lisa Smolkin	Non-fiction: It is supposed to be "icicle day" today cause Jackie said. He even had me write it in the calendar. Unfort-
Poem: Sincere, earnest elevator going up. Gold buttons pressed. Destination penthouse.	Shy Mom unately I feel like a winter ^{in door} zombie. At 2pm I finally made some beet juice to colour some water, filled up balloons with this now beautiful pink water & put them outside to freeze. -16°. In a few hours we can remove the balloons &
Warning: You may not want to cut your hair because it may be a source of your strength.	have something. Pink ice crystals. The other night I became fun when we leanced out windows & smashed icicles.
Quote: "You are the most adorable clown in the world." -Scott	More non-fiction: I I once made my friend/ neighbour cry by doing the splits in front of her. We were 13 and she wasn't quite there yet.
1,000,000 glass ceilings. Radiant heating in floors.	Fun: Reading the atlas. Reading the music section & highlighting movies I want to see
I imagine that people who have heated floors could have nothing to be unhappy about.	Desire: to travel SOON. By air-private suite. I mean it.
Clothing: I used to have this really amazing safari dress - beige short sleeves, buttondown with epauletts. Like a shirtdress. Do you like coat dresses? My mom used to. She worked for the Indian Embassy in Ottawa & wore high-heels. This was in the late 1960s when things were fancier	Story: I'm going on a trip to somewhere warm on a bourgeois/elite world cruise that takes 3 months. There are no conflicts and no one is mad at me. Everyone I know comes to see me off and I throw streamers and confetti (littering) at them. It is like the TV show Loveboat. I actually have an interest in meeting people and participating in activities. At night I go into my cabin and close the door just like those other people. - reprinted from my email to Kevin
My spam is un-sexy lately. I hope I'm not losing my touch. Universe?	Feeling & Taste: White choc. mousse w/ choc. chips
What he is not allowed: coffee	Smell: hope	Join my club. Meetings at my house... and beyond. Join first, subject announced later. It will be fun. lisa.smolkin@gmail.com
Time off for the holidays: 2 hours. I am not joking.	at work
SECFRS - This stands for seemingly endless capacity for relational struggling	Thanks to Catherine & Kaitlynn for pretending (in detail) that I was next in line to be the queen of england & that I would be so just & sweet tempered.
Characters in The Breakfast Club I can relate to & %'s Ally sheedy/weirdo - 45% Carl/Janitor - 8% Brian/geek - 25% Mean Teacher/ - 2% Claire/princess - 15% Vice Princ.	Thanks to Marlena for the fruit punch (exploration) tic tac. Happy Birthday Catherine	